

WRITING FOR RIGHTS

UNIT WRITING COMPETITION ON INDIGENOUS RIGHTS

AMNESTY INTERNATIONAL

Defend human rights AND enhance your teaching skills and knowledge of Indigenous rights.

HOW TO ENTER:

Write an original unit of work, with a focus on Indigenous rights, for primary or secondary school students. Write about topics such as:

- comparing the rights of Indigenous communities in Australia with those in other countries
- the Northern Territory intervention and human rights
- the history of Indigenous people in your area.

PRIZES INCLUDE:

$500 towards attending the next Social Educators' Association of Australia (SEAA) conference

Your choice of Amnesty International merchandise to the value of $150 (see www.shop.amnesty.org.au)

A one-year membership to SEAA and Amnesty International

Winning entries will be published on the SEAA and Amnesty International websites. ALL entrants will receive a certificate for their portfolio.

This competition is open to all tertiary education students and can be submitted individually or as a team. Entries close 20 November 2009.

For full details on how to enter, unit format suggestions, judging criteria and to submit your entry, go to www.amnesty.org.au/hre or www.afsffe.asn.au/seaa

Amnesty International Australia and the Social Educators' Association of Australia are pleased to be joint sponsors of this national competition.

Human Rights Education: building a global culture of human rights

AMNESTY INTERNATIONAL

